ASSISTANT OR ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF KINESIOLOGY

We welcome candidates for a position in the Department of Kinesiology. Gordon College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track assistant or associate professor of kinesiology appointment. Rank will be commensurate with experience. Position to begin August 2017.

We are seeking someone with a Ph.D. or Ed.D., with excellent teaching and research skills who will contribute to the department, the college, and the discipline. Potential responsibilities include teaching courses in principles of strength and conditioning, sport nutrition, exercise testing and prescription, health and wellness and research methods. Additional responsibilities may include internship coordination and supervision. NSCA and/or ACSM certification and programming experience is desirable.

The Kinesiology Department offers outstanding faculty who are committed to excellence in teaching, research, service, and motivated students who are eager to engage in research with their faculty colleagues. The department is housed in the new Ken Olsen Science Center that includes: a bioenergetics laboratory equipped with state-of-the-art isokinetic dynamometry and metabolic assessment equipment; a biomechanics laboratory with two AMTI force plates and 6 Vicon cameras; a neuromotor control lab with a Bertec Functional Balance System and an EMG system.

The department also maintains strong connections with the Gordon College Center for Balance, Mobility and Wellness. The Center provides outpatient physical therapy services for individuals with neurological, vestibular and balance and gait disorders. In addition, the Center provides a membership-based fitness program for individuals 50 years and older. For details on the Center see http://www.gordon.edu/balance.

The Gordon College campus is ideally located in a classic New England town on Boston’s North Shore and includes a 72,000 square foot state of the art athletic and recreation facility, a 30-element high and low ropes course, an indoor rock gym and hundreds of acres of ponds and trails.
Desirable candidates will have:

- Doctorate completed by the time of appointment
- Strong commitment to the Christian mission of the college
- Collaborative skills that cross-departmental and disciplinary boundaries
- A current research program or potential for its development
- Commitment to involving undergraduates in research

Gordon College is recruiting accomplished faculty who demonstrate the ability to combine outstanding scholarship with a passion for teaching and mentoring, and who are dedicated to preparing thoughtful Christian men and women for lives of service and leadership worldwide.

As one of the country’s top liberal arts colleges with a vibrant Christian community, Gordon is uniquely positioned to lead the conversation at the intersection of faith and cultural engagement. We need scholars with a depth of understanding, a breadth of knowledge, and the desire to be part of the dialogue.

Interested applicants need to submit a Curriculum Vita that includes names and contact information of three references, a sample of academic writing, and a letter of application that addresses their fit with the Christian mission of Gordon College and with the position for which they are applying.
