Faculty Position in Speech Pathology: Communication Disorders – Part-Time Appointment

Gordon College, a private Christian liberal arts college in the evangelical tradition on Boston’s North Shore, seeks applications for an adjunct part-time instructor position in Speech Pathology to teach Introduction to Communications Disorders during Spring Semester 2017. Position to begin January 2017.

The successful candidate will hold at least an MA in a related field with experience teaching Communications Disorders or be a licensed speech pathologist with evidence of teaching potential. In their cover letters, candidates are expected to briefly articulate how they intend to support the Christian mission of the college. Please send your cover letter, CV, resume and three references to Kate Low at Kate.Low@gordon.edu.