

Handwritten text in a stylized script, possibly a form of shorthand or a specific dialect, displayed in ten vertical columns on a white wall. Each character is a small, colorful, three-dimensional object with a blue circular base. The colors of the characters vary across the columns, including shades of red, orange, yellow, and brown.

