The Gordon College Art Program seeks a tradigital designer with a desire to join a nationally recognized studio art program and help lead it into the intersection of visual culture and digital technology. Background and experience with traditional studio art practice desired. Position is tenure-track, open rank. Salary commensurate with experience. Position to begin August 2021.

Candidates should be capable of teaching digital design and design theory on a variety of platforms to prepare students for design-related careers; candidates should also be capable of teaching visual art foundations (such as drawing) with possible interest in helping develop our current curriculum to include contemporary theory/practice.

The Gordon College Art Program has full-time and adjunct faculty serving 50+ majors in two main areas of focus: Studio Fine Art and Design. Graduates of our program serve as gallery artists, graphic designers, curators and conservators, illustrators, educators, fashion and interior designers, and landscape architects, among other art-related professions. The program is situated in the newly formed Department of Communication Arts, Theatre, and Art.

The ideal candidate will have:
• a terminal degree in their field, such as an MFA in Design
• passion for teaching and mentoring a younger generation of artists and art professionals
• demonstrated mature Christian faith and strong commitment to the Christian mission of the College
• value for diversity and inclusion as demonstrated in their teaching and scholarship
• creative and collaborative skills that cross departmental and disciplinary boundaries
• interest in and evidence of an interdisciplinary spirit—and passion for participation in the liberal arts tradition
• full-time classroom teaching experience
• commitment to their own studio and scholarly practice or design career
• a spirit of collegiality and sense of humor

Gordon College is recruiting accomplished faculty who demonstrate the ability to combine outstanding scholarship and artistic accomplishments with a passion for teaching and mentoring, and who are dedicated to preparing thoughtful Christian women and men for lives of service and leadership worldwide.

As one of the country’s top liberal arts colleges within a vibrant Christian community, Gordon is uniquely positioned to lead the conversation at the intersection of faith and cultural engagement. We need designers, artists, and scholars with a breadth of artistic knowledge and experience, a mature and vibrant faith, and a demonstrated desire to be part of the larger conversations in culture that move beyond the walls of our studios to address the needs of our world.
Interested applicants should submit a Curriculum Vitae that includes the names of three references, a design and/or fine art portfolio, and a letter of application addressing their vision for the multimedia nature of the position and their fit with the Christian mission of Gordon College.
