Professor in the Practice of Finance (Open Rank)

The Department of Economics and Business at Gordon College invites applications for a full-time, three-year, renewable appointment to Professor in the Practice of Finance. Position to begin January 2023. Rank (Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor) commensurate with experience.

This position offers the opportunity to lead our established undergraduate major in Finance and collaborate on foundational finance knowledge for other programs. The Department of Economics and Business is home to approximately 200 students and offers majors in business administration (with concentrations in marketing, management, international business, and sport management), accounting, finance, and economics.

Principal teaching responsibilities will include courses such as financial management, personal financial planning, investments, risk management and insurance, and finance electives related to the candidate’s area of expertise. The teaching load is 3-4 courses per semester.

Additional faculty responsibilities include advising students, service on college committees, and academic research or active engagement in the practice of finance.

The ideal candidate will have:

- An advanced degree in finance or a related field;
- Significant professional experience in finance, with CFA Charterholder preferred;
- Potential for or demonstrated excellence in undergraduate teaching;
- Evidence of or the potential for contributions to the practice of finance, including research or other professional activities;
- A personal commitment to Christianity, the Christian mission of the College, and the integration of faith and learning in the classroom.

Gordon College is recruiting accomplished faculty who demonstrate the ability to combine outstanding scholarship and professional engagement with a passion for teaching and mentoring, and who are dedicated to preparing thoughtful Christian men and women for lives of service and leadership worldwide. As one of the country’s top liberal arts colleges with a vibrant Christian community, Gordon is uniquely positioned to lead the exploration of the intersection of faith and cultural engagement. We seek scholars with depth of understanding, breadth of knowledge, and the desire to be part of this exploration.

Interested applicants should submit a Curriculum Vita that includes the names and contact information of three references, a sample of academic or professional writing, and a letter of application that addresses their fit with the Christian mission of Gordon College and with the position, including teaching and research or practice interests.
